WELCOME TO OUR SHOW

THE STUDENT CHAPTER OF THE AMERICAN SOCIETY OF LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTS

at UCLA Extension (SCASLA); the Guidance Committee; and instructors and staff of the Professional Certificate Program in Landscape Architecture, Department of the Arts, UCLA Extension, welcome you to the 31st Annual Landscape Architecture Student Show, an exhibition of student work featuring projects from first through third years, as well as fourth-year Thesis projects.

We offer congratulations to the graduating students in the Class of 2009.

A jury of experts is invited to view the exhibition and provide comments to the students about their projects. Works of special merit are recognized. Prizes donated by the local professional and commercial communities often accompany these awards. Hundreds of professionals and members of the general public attend, and many people contribute their time, creative energy, and expertise to make the show a success every year. The show is being held at UCLA Extension's 1010 Westwood Center, where it will be exhibited until September 11th, 2009.

SCASLA is a student-based, professional organization at UCLA Extension and an official student chapter of the American Society of Landscape Architects (ASLA). Student dues and contributions received by SCASLA fund all their activities. SCASLA organizes workshops, lectures, and tours, as well as sponsors the annual student show to enhance our educational experience.

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

THE LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTURE PROGRAM AT UCLA EXTENSION is currently celebrating its 32nd anniversary. The program requires of its students an academically rigorous level of commitment and participation. The year-round course is long (four years of evening classes), and intense (two or three courses each quarter). It strives to create an educational environment which fosters an attitude of sensitivity; it supports an ethic which engenders responsibility to the land and environment, concern for human factors, and an overall commitment to significant aesthetic value.

The program encourages students to understand traditional values and methodologies and, at the same time, to value the search for fresh solutions to contemporary problems. Our particular location in a large urban center affords us unique opportunities to observe and participate firsthand in the critical processes of the profession. Daily exposure to every facet of design—from avant-garde to historical preservation, and from single residential to whole new communities—provides a rich study palette for students in this program.

Since a majority of our instructors are involved professionally in these design efforts, students frequently have the opportunity to participate in those projects and to test theories advanced in studio classes against real-world models. The program challenges students to seek more effective ways to address such problems through the application and development of theory and technology. It is dedicated to developing a professional attitude which embraces both constraints and opportunities and optimally satisfies their combined challenges.
