

Two years ago Emily Gabel-Luddy was asked to establish a new Urban Design Studio within the Department of City Planning in Los Angeles... a revolutionary act! With partner Simon Pastucha, Cal Poly Pomona graduate, the Studio is charting an exciting new course. Guiding Downtown development. Nurturing neighborhood character. Prioritizing pedestrians and transit, not cars... Is this L.A. we're talking about?!

URBAN DESIGN PRINCIPLES FOR A 21ST CENTURY LOS ANGELES

EMILY GABEL-LUDDY

CITY OF LOS ANGELES URBAN DESIGN STUDIO

CHIEF URBAN DESIGNER

MONDAY MAY

4

FELLOW, AMERICAN SOCIETY OF LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTS

cal poly pomona

LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTURE

2009
SPRING

LECTURE SERIES

HIGH-PROFILE PARKS, 2009
CHRISTOPHER HAWTHORNE
LOS ANGELES TIMES ARCHITECTURE CRITIC
MONDAY MAY 18

In these uncertain times, what changes are in store for projects like the Orange County Great Park, L.A.'s Grand Avenue Civic Park, and Pershing Square? What are their designs' strengths and weaknesses? And where are fresh opportunities for public space in our region? LA Times architecture critic Christopher Hawthorne offers his latest thoughts on parks and design in our region.

11:00 AM
ENV BUILDING 7
ATRIUM

FREE + OPEN TO THE PUBLIC
Brought to you by the Cal Poly Pomona
Department of Landscape Architecture
Student Lecture Committee