

June 18, 2008

Landscape architects get networking site

Land8Lounge is a social network for landscape architects that launched in March. The Web site, land8lounge.com, aims to bring together landscape architects from all around the globe.

The site offers networking features, including personal portfolios (“My Folio”), blogs, photo sharing, video sharing, discussion groups, events, and a resource library.

Visitors come from 70 countries and 985 cities around the world. Since its introduction on March 12, more than 500 landscape architects have become full members of the site.